The Water Lot

We created the pasture in a trap consisting of several acres with enough feed and water to hold large numbers of cattle over night, or for a few days. Close to the woods and dunes, the cattle could be penned and worked making less confusion and stress for the animals.

The "Water Lot" is published by Robert Shufelt, Inc. of OK State in an edition of 950 copies. Each piece is signed by the artist and numbered by the artist and is always signed with the signature. All other signatures have been destroyed. Printed by: Screen Photographs of Tulsa on gold-leaf paper in standard size. © Robert Shufelt - April 1957

Robert "Shoofly" Shufelt sensitively weaves design throughout his drawings. Fusing individual pencil strokes into a painterly accumulation of planes and textures, he discerns dramatic imagery with bold sunlight and shadow. Shoofly's work has been published by influential art publications. He feels that the reward from his talent comes from the support of his collectors and acceptance into the Fraternity of the Cowboys he draws. Now is your chance to own "The Water Lot" through PHBA.
